Education Philosophy

The education philosophy of Nagoya Institute of Technology is to “Aim towards achieving the happiness of humankind and welfare of the global community going into the future while nurturing the human talent to support this goal based on 3 guiding principles: Monozukuri (Innovation), Hitozukuri (Education), and Miraizukuri (Contribution).”

Each and every graduate of this school is expected to be active as a pragmatic engineering elite who possesses the skills to create revolutionary academic innovations and technologies in the real world by working together with various people in various fields throughout the global community and striving towards a sustainable society of the future.

About the International Cooperative Department

1. International cooperative program (A graduate school that provides an educational program in collaboration with an overseas university)

Multiple universities in Japan and overseas cooperate to make utmost use of their education and research resources to offer more advanced, innovative, and enticing programs than a single university can offer, thereby providing high-quality, high-value-added study opportunities to students with the goal of creating outstanding human resources desired by universities, nations, businesses, and communities. For that purpose, jointly cooperative universities conduct an educational program and confer degrees jointly.

2. Main distinctions of our joint degree program

- (1) Degrees are conferred jointly by Nagoya Institute of Technology (here in after, NITech) and The University of Wollongong (here in after, UoW).

The type of degree offered is a doctorate (Doctor of Philosophy).

- (2) Students are enrolled at both NITech and UoW. Supervisors from both universities are tasked with providing research guidance, allowing students to conduct research from a wide range of perspectives.
- (3) Students first conduct one year of research under the supervisors’ guidance at NITech, followed by another year of research guidance in UoW, after which they return to Japan and apply for their degree to NITech. If the application is approved by the Joint Academic Review Committee, which consists of members from both universities, they are conferred a joint degree from both universities.
- (4) Comprehensive research guidance is provided over a three-year period to each individual student through the Co-creative Seminar that is implemented using a remote teaching (teleconferencing) system.

Important Information

1. Applicants apply either to NITech or to UoW. Applicants to NITech take their entrance examination at NITech. In such instances, the entrance procedure, payment of tuition and other costs, and applications for grants and scholarships will be handled at NITech.
2. Applicants cannot apply to both NITech and UoW for this Joint Degree Doctoral Program in Informatics.
3. Applicants with the level of English proficiency (6.0 in each category of the IELTS, or an overall score of 6.5 or higher in the IELTS Academic module), or with equivalent English abilities are preferred.
